Reds Claim U.S. Has Delayed Pact Twice

By James Goldsborough

PARIS, Oct. 26 (IHT).—North Vietnam said today that the United States, after consultation with South Vietnam, has refused to sign the agreement reached to end the Vietnam war.

In an official declaration at the weekly peace talks, the North Vietnamese said that a document titled "Agreement on Ending the War and Restoring the Peace in Vietnam" was to have been signed today, but that the United States asked that the signing be put off first until Monday, then until Tuesday.

After Hanoi accepted these two delays, North Vietnam said, the United States. "invoking difficulties encountered in Salgon," asked for new negotiations with Hanoi and "refused to discuss what had already been agreed to and the dates fixed."

This U.S. request for new negotiations was made three days ago, on the day U.S. presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger returned to Washington from Saigon,

Its declaration said that the new U.S. position "had created an extremely serious situation and represents a threat for the signature [of the agreement]." The United States deplored at today's session that North Vietnam had broken the secrecy of the negotiations, but in Washington Mr. Kissinger indicated that the North Vietnamese at-

Following release of their declaration today, Xuan Thuy, head of the Hanoi delegation here, held on several points. He said that the United States had put off the signing in order to "prolong the war," hut it became clear from subsequent comments that Hanoi and the Viet Cong fear that the Saigon government wants to hold up an agreement both to obtain more concessions and continue strengthening its position. The Viet Cong charged today that Saigon was using the delay to exterminate the prisoners it holds. "The United States has agreed with us," said Mr. Thuy, "and now is advancing new obstacles on the pretext that there are difficulties with Saigon. We say the United States is trying to prolong the war and the nego-tiations and we ask the United States to sign the agreement already reached"

Mr. Thuy said that the United States, in asking last Monday for the latest postponement, had told Hanoi only that Saigon's ap-proval had not been obtained. Observers said that the key point in the agreement outlined today was the provision for establishing a three-part National Council to bring Communists and non-Communists together and organize elections in South Virtnam. Although no date is fixed for this task, the agree-ment states that the two sides will "do their best" to accomplish it within three months of the cease-

Negotiation Session Necessary, He Says

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (IHT) .- Henry A. Kissinger declared today that "peace is at hand" in Vietnam and said an agreement to end the war could be signed "within a matter of weeks or less."

North Vietnam earlier today announced that it had reached an agreement with the United States to end the war by Oct. 31.

Mr. Kissinger told a White House news briefing that only one more negotiating session "lasting no more than three or down final details. This raised the prospect of a Nov. 7, the U.S. election day. Several hours after Mr. Kissinger's briefing, President Nixon said tonight that he is confident that differences blocking a timal Vietnam peace settlement "can and will be worked out." Speaking for the first time publicly about what he termed "a significant breakthrough" in the Vietnam negotiations, Mr. Nicon told an airport rally in Huntington, W., Va., "I am contident we will succeed in achieving our objective... peace with honor and not peace with surrender in Vietnam. Mr. Kissinger, the President's national security adviser, who conducted secret meetings with Communist representatives in Paris over a four-year span, said most major provisions of a peace settlement already have been agreed to.

point agreement Hanoi disclosed earlier today was essentially correct but he rejected North Vietnamese charges that the United States was delaying signing the pact by next Tuesday, Oct. 31.

Not Be Stampeded' "We will not be stampeded into an agreement until its provisions are right," said Mr. Kissinger. We will not be deflected from an agreement if its provisions are considered right."

The Radio Hanoi statement said that after there had been acreement on various earlier dates for putting into effect stages of the pact, the United States "put forth" last Friday, Oct. 20, another schedule: end of U.S. bombing and mining of the North last Monday, Oct. 23; initialing of the text in Hanoi the next da, and formal signing by the foreign ministers of the twn countries in Paris, next Tuesday,

Oct. 31 The radio said that North Vietnam, "with its good will, again agreed to the U.S. proposal while atressing that the U.S. side should not under any pretext change the agreed schedule."

But last Monday, the radio said, the United States, contrary to its pledges . . . demanded that the negotiations be continued for resolving new problems." "This behavior of the U.S. side," the radio said, "has brought about a very serious situation, which threatens to jeopardize the signing of the agreement. But Mr. Kissinger said that Hanoi's assumption that Oct 31 was a firm date for signing tho accord was based upon a mis-

SAIGON, Oct. 26 (WP) .- South Vietnam went shead with preparations for a possible cease-fire today amid general silence about reports of a peace agreement be-tween the United States and North Vietnem.

Spokesmen for Mr. Thieu and for the Foreign Ministry declined to comment on the Hanoi broadcast, saying that they had not had enough time to analyze it. Several hours after the Hanoi statement, diplomats and journalists here were still scrambling for copies of the English text.

The Saigon radio said in a .commentary tonight that "self-determinstion of the Victnamese people cannot result from a secret agreement... America and North Vietnam cannot solve anything for South Vietnam.". This has been the position of the government throughout the latest round of peace negotiations. The Thieu government is devoting much of its energy to shoring up its military and political position throughout the country in anticipation of a cease-fire. It is widely regarded here as a beginning, not an end, of the struggle with the Communists for control, and Mr. Thieu is calling for increased military and political vigilance during the truce

Text of Hanoi's Statement-

TOKYO (AP).-The text o the statement issued by the North Vietnamese government on the peace negotiations with the United States:

Following years of a glorious resistance war of our armed forces and people in both zones, the United States had to stop in October 1968 the bombardments against the Democratic Republic of Vietnam and accept the holding of a four-party conference on Vietnam in Paris. That situation opened np prospects for restoring peace in Vietnam.

The Nixon administration chose, however, to embark on the path of Vietnamization of the war and negotiation from a position of strength. As a -result, the U.S. war of aggression in Vietnam dragged on, was intensified and expanded, and the Vielnam peace negotiations could not make any progress.

Over the past four years, the valiant and undaunted Vietnamese people have stepped up their just struggle on the military, political and diplomatic fronts, and have recorded un-precedented victories, especially in the spring, thus inflicting a very important setback on the Vietnemization policy.

At the same time, the government of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam has constantly shown its serious attitude and good will in the search for a peaceful solution to the Vletnam problem on a basis guaranteeing the Vietnamese peopie's. fundamental national rights and the South Vletnamese people's right to self-deter-

In full agreement with the Provisional Revolutionary Government of the Republic of South Vietnam, the government of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam has held private mectings with the U.S. government with a view to a peaceful settlement of the Vietnam problem. But till September 1972, the negotiations on the Vietnam problcm had remained without re-

New Initiative

With a view to making the negotiations progress, at the private meeting on Oct. 8, 1972 the DR.V.N. side took a new, extremely important initiative: it put forward a draft 'Agreement on Ending the War and Restoring Peace in Vietnam, and proposed that the government of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam, with the concurrence of the Provisional Revolutionary Government of the Republic of South Vietnam. and the government of the United States of America, with the concurrence of the government of the Republic of Vietnam, immediately agreed upon rnd sign this agreement to radidly restore peace in Vletnam.

In that draft agreement, the D.R.V.N. side proposed a cessation of the war throughout Vietnam, a cease-fire in South Vietnam, an end to all U.S. military involvement in Vietnam, a total withdrawal from South Vietnam of troops of the United States and those of the foreign countries allied with the United States and with the Republic of Vietnam, and the return of all captured and detained personnel of the parties. From the enforcement of the cease-fire to the installation of the government formed after free and democratic general elections, the two present adnulnistrations in South Vietnam will remain in existence with their respective domestic and external functions. These two administrations shall immediately hold consultations with a view to the exercise of the South Vietnamese people's right to self-determination, achieving national concord, ensuring the democratic liberties of the South Vietnamese people, and forming an administration of national concord which shall have the task of promoting the South Vietnamese parties' implementation of the signed agreements and organizing general elections in Vietnam within three months after the ccase-fire comes into effect.

Thus the Vietnam problem will be settled in two stages in accordance with the off-ex-pressed desire of the American side: the first stage will include a cessation of the war in Vietnam, a cease-fire in South Vietnam, a cessation of the U.S. military involvement in South Vletnam and an agreement on the principles for the exercise of the South people's right to self-determination; in the second stage, the two South Vietnamese parties will settle together the internal matters of South Vletnam. The D.R.V.N. side proposed that the Democratic Republic of Vietnam and the United States sign this agreement by mid-October,

Issues Summarized

The main issues of the agreement which have been agreed upon may be summarized as

1) The United States respects the independence, sovereignty, unity and territorial integrity of Vietnam as recognized by tha 1954 Geneva agreements.

2) Twenty-four hours after the signing of the agreement, a cease-fire shall be observed throughout South Vietnam. The United States will stop all its military activities, and end the bombing and mining in North Vletnam, Within 60 days, there will be a total withdrawal from South Vietnam of troops and military personnel of the United States and those of the

With the ending of the war, the restoration of peace in Vietnam will create conditions for establishing a new, equal, and mutually beneficial relationship between the Democratic Republic of Vietnam and the United States. The United States will contribute to healing the wounds of war and to postwar reconstruction in the Democratic Republic - of - Vietnam and throughout Indochina.

9) This agreement shall come into force as of its signing. It will be strictly implemented by all the parties concerned.

The two parties heve also agreed on a _:hedule for the signing of the agreement. On Oct. 9. 1972, at the proposal of the U.S. side, it was agreed that on Oct. 18, 1972, the United States would stop the bombing and mining in North Vietnam. on Oct. 19, 1972, the two parties would initial the text of the agreement in Hanni: on Oct. 26. 1972 the foreign ministers of the two countries would formally sign the agreement in Paris.

On Oct. 11, 1972, the U.S. side proposed the following change to the schedule: on Oct. 21, 1972, the United States would stop the bombing and mining in North Vietnam, on Oct. 22, 1972, the two parties would ini-tial the text of the agreement In Hanoi, on Oct. 30, 1972, the foreign ministers of the countries would formally sign the agreement in Paris The Democratic Republic of Vietnam agreed to the new U.S.

Schedule Change

On Oct. 20, 1972, under the pretext that there still remained a number of unagreed points, the U.S. side again put forth another schedule: on Oct. 23, 1972, the United States would stop the bombing and mining in North Vietnam, on Oct. 24, 1972, the two parties would initial the text of the agreement in Hanol; on Oct. 31. 1972, the foreign ministers of the two countries would formally sign the agreement in Paris. Despite the fact that the U.S. side had changed many times what had been agreed upon, the D.R.V.N. side with its good will again agreed to the U.S. proposal while stressing that the U.S. side should not under any pretext change the egreed schedule

Thus, by Oct. 22, 1972, the D.R.V.N. side and the U.S. side bad agreed both on the full text of the "Agreement on Ending the War and Restoring Peace in Vietnam" and on the schedule to be observed for the formal signing of the agreement on Oct. 31, 1972. Ohviously, the two sides had agreed upon an agreement of extremely important significance, which meets the wishes of the peoples in Vietnam, the United Staes and the world

But on Oct. 23, 1972, contrary to its pledges, the U.S. side again referred to difficulties in Saigon, demanded that the ncgotiations ce continued for resolving new problems, and did not say anything about the implementation of its commitments under the agreed schedule. This behavior of the U.S. side has brought about a

The government of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam deems it its duty to bring the present situation with respect to the private meetings between the Democratic Republic States to the notice of our countrymen and fighters throughout the country, and peoples in the world and the United States so that the truth may be known. This information is in the interest of peace and will in no way affect the negotiations, the two parties having agreed upon the text of the agreement and the schedule for its signing. While pointing to the above situation. the government of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam strictly holds to the undertaking between the Democratic Republic of Vietnam and the United States to the effect that no change should be brought to the agreed text of the agreement, and that the date scheduled for its signing is Oct. 31,

113 Red Attacks in 24 Hours, Most Since Tet Drive in 1968

SAIGON, Oct. 26 (UPI).-Communist troops carried out more attacks in South Vietnam in 24 hours than any time since the Tet offensive in February, 1968, South Vietnamese military spokesmen said today.

Tha spokesman said Communists launched 113 attacks during a period ending at 6 a.m. today (2200 GMT Wednesday). The spokesman said the Com-munists also initiated 81 shellings during the same period. The U.S. command said the number of air strikes over North Vietnam jumped from 100 individnal missions to 130 during the command's latest 24-hour reporting period. The spokesmen said none of the reported strikes were

north of the 20th parallei, 65 miles south of Hanci. The increased activity by both sides was announced after an announcement by Hanoi radio that the United States and North Vietnam have reached agreement on a peace settlement.

The Saigon command said shellings by the Communists included six 122-mm rockets fired near the Lai Khe base camp, 30 miles north of Saigon, which killed two persons and wounded nine. The command said one child was killed near Cu Chi, 15 miles northwest of Saigon, in an 11-round 122-mm rocket barone grenade when she saw she was about to be captured. Police said they also seized documents calling for increased Communist activity in Daning for a period running until 11 a.m. Saturday when, the documents said, a cease-fire was expected to . be signed.

A grenade went off in a Danang intersection yesterday, kill-ing four persons and wounding 35, In other action: A South Vietnamese battalion commander died when his jeep hit a mine yesterday near Xuan Loc, 45 miles northeast of Saigon. South Vietnamese reported killing 30 Communists while losing 14 dead in an attack near Cai Lay. 48 miles southwest of Saigon. In the hamlet of Binh Lam, 100 miles east of Saigon, Saigon spokesmen . said, Communists gathered the villagers together and told them not to leave hecause a critical period was coming soon-an apparent reference to an impending cease-fire. The Communists held the village for nearly eight hours before they were blasted out by air and artillery strikes and regional force troops, the spokesmen said. The South Victnamese claimed killing 41 North Vietnamese at a cost of six government troops dead and 14 wounded.

Mr. Klasinger said there are "six or seven concrete issues" that need to be settled before a final Victnam péace agreement can-be

• The need to insure against final military lunges in the pre-cease-fire-period to gain territory of the Vietnamese people, the and to protect against the "dangers of loss of life" and the possibility of a massacre."

• Establish an international cease-fire inspection commission in place at the time a cease-fire takes effect. · Clarify the relation between the military situation in Cambodia and Lacs to the crase-fire in Vietnam.

• Clarify "misapprehensions" that appeared in an interview given Newsweek magazine last week by North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong. Mr. Kissinger provided no specifics on

For the independence and freedom of our fatherland, for · Clarity "linguistic problems" concerning differences in the English and Vietnamese translations of the proposed treaty. Mr. Kissinger gave as an example the need to insure that North Vietnam realizes that the National Council of Reconcilation and Concord that will oversee the election procedure will be an administrativa body and not a ocalition government.

Obtain agreement by Hanol that the current Saigon government will sign the final agree-ment on the theory that the nation which has suffered the most "should have the right to sign its own peace treaty."

Settle "technical problems" concerning which parts of the 1954 Geneva accords will apply in the new agreement.

· The nine-point formula. broadcast by Hanoi, included a cease-fire in South Vietnam within 24 hours of signing the agreement; an end to U.S. bombing of North Vietnam: a pullout of all U.S. and allied troops from South Vietnam within 60 days plus return of all prisoners of war; "free and democratic" elections in South Vietnam .under international supervision; unification of Vietnam and U.S. ald in rebuilding bomb-ravaged North Vietnam.

Mr. Kissinger, who met for five days last week with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu, said he was confident Mr. Thieu would accept the peace agreement, despite his reluctance expressed in a televised speech

While Mr. Kissinger was cautious in flatly predicting an im-mediate end to the decades-long Vietnamesa war, he said:

"Peace is within reach in a matter of weeks or less . . . We believe that peace is at hand. We believe that an egreement is in sight, which is just to all parties." 'Smallest Part'

He stressed that "what remains to be done is the smallest part of what has already been accomplished." They were basically linguistic and technical details, he said, but had to be settled before the United States and South Vietnam can sign the agreement. Mr. Kissinger said the Ameri-can presidential election had nothing to do with the timing of his announcement. If Hanof 'had not announced the agreement first, he said, he would not have revealed it.

Going over the nine points. Mr. Kissinger expanded somewhat on each. The Thien government would remain in power in Saigon until a "National Council of National Reconciliation and Concord"-consisting of representatives of the Thieu regime, the Communists and nentralist forces -arranged for nationwide elections in the South. There was no timetable given for the election; but North Vietnam's premier said in tha Newsweek interview that he believed it would be within six mouths of the cease-fire. An international conference on

Vietnam would be called within 30 days to "develop guarantees and establish relations of the various parties to each other in greater detail." Mr. Kissinger

The proposed agreement also said all sides would respect Laos' and Cambodia's sovereignty, and not use their territory for hostile

South Vietnamese combat deaths rose marginally from 576 to 580, and government wounded dropped by 346 to 2,075, South Vietnamese officials said. The South Vietnamese com-

He said Mr. Thieu's opposition to a coalition government mcluding Communist elements, expressed in his speech this week, was directed toward "a previous plan, not this version."

He sald: "As Radio Hanoi carrectly stated today, on Oct. 8 the North Vietnamese for the first time made a proposal which en-

The three-part council's job is to obtain agreement on a long series of internal questions between the two administrations that will he in place.

Asked how much territory the Viet Cong controlled in South Vietnam, Ly Van Sau, the Viet Cong spokesman refused to give figures, but said that there had been "big changes over the past six months with many new zones liberated." He said that 2.5 mlllion more people had come under Viet Cong control in this period alone, and that "the front is present everywhere now, including all the regions near the big cities and Saigon."
In today's North Vietnamese declaration and in Mr. Thuy's remarks it is made clear that for Hanol the breakthrough was achieved at the Oct. 8 session with Mr. Kissinger, the first day of four straight days of negotiating between the two sides earlier this month.....

Saying the Oct. 8 meeting represented "an extremely importent new initiative," today's declaration indicated that Hanoi today's dropped its previous cails for a three-part government and Mr. Trieu's resignation and proposed instead that the two present powers stay n place.

It was this initiative, according to Hanri, that led to the agreement outlined today. "Tha Americans themselves recognized," said Hanci today, that this initiative "opened the door to a rapid solution" and led to the fixing of the dates Hanoi cited today.

Oct. 17, the declaration said, an agreement "on practi-cally all the points" had been reached, but two points remain-. ed to be settled and finally Hanoi agreed to the "American proposals" on these two questions. At his press conference, Mr. Thuy said tha two questions were those of arms replacement by both sides and the return of prisoners. On the second point Mr. Thuy said that the United States had not wanted to admit responsibility for Viet Cong captured by the Saigon government. Finally. said Mr. Thuy, Hanoi agreed that the prisoner exchange would take place over the 60-day period for withdrawal of all U.S. troops. The compromise on arms re-

.This approach was suggested hy the United States in its May 8 proposals which called for a cease-fire, prisoner exchange and U.S. withdrawal, leaving the two groups in South Vietnam to work things out themselves. The Communists long rejected this because it left Mr. Thieu in The declaration says that on

Oct. 20, after the final two points on arms and prisoners had been resolved, President Nixon sent a message to North Vietnamese Premier Phant Van Dong stating that the United States appreciated Hanoi's "goodwill" and that the agreement could "be con-sidered as finished." However, the declaration continued, Mr. Nixon raised a "few complex questions" to which Hanoi sent answers and on Oct. 22 Mr. Nixon sent another message "expressing satisfaction" with the an-

As Mr. Kissinger identified them, the remaining difficulties seemed secondary indeed. Some dealt with the timing of a cease-fire and the emplacement of supervisors. Some dealt with translation problems. One dealt with the unofficial comments of Premier Pham Van Dong of North Vietnam.

The essential concession from Hanoi in this accord, both sides agree, is the agreement to begin with a concrete military stand-still and to continue the political contest in South Vietnem under arrangements still to be nego-

As Mr. Kissinger emphasized Mr. Thieu will be free to marshal his forces to wage that contest and will be limited only by "sor e very general principles" in the basic agreement. For instance, he noted, the Saigon government and the Viet Cong are pledged to "do their utmost" to settle internal matters within three months, not that they must do so within three months. Indeed, the expectation here is that the division of authority the restoration of government services and the creation of a new political system inside South Vietnam may take many months longer, and some questions may not be resolved for years. The situation is far more complex than that in Laos at the time of cease-fire there in 1962. The feelings run much deeper, the stakes are larger and rival forces are not nearly so neatly aligned in contiguous regions. And yet the rival Laotian princes never achieved anything better than da facto partition of their country.

While political observers generally believed that news of im-pending peace would undermine Sen. McGovern's chances of election, the candidate himself contended it could help him. He said the American people would see that the terms now accepted hy President Nixon could have been obtained years ago.

Sen. McGovern told the students the question that haunted him was: "Why, Mr. Nixon, d'd you take another four years to put an end to this tragic war?" In Columbia, S.C., today, Democratic vice-presidential candidate Sargent Shriver said the announcements of imminent peace were "an election maneuver." "The United States will realize

The Good Lite. A great Scotch is part of it.

The more you know about Scotch, the more you like Ballantines

If you've ever landed at New York you'll remember what it was like.

If you fly Pan Am, here are three problems you won't have to face.

The before clearing customs problem.

We ve installed an automatic luggage conveyor system which ties into each gate. By the time you get off the plane and get to the luggage claim area, your baggage should be there.

In the luggage claim area, we've got 12 luggage race-tracks-more than the international Arrivals Building-more than any other airline terminal has.

The clearing customs problem.

At the International Arrivals Building, there are just too many airlines served by too few customs positions.

At the new Pan Am terminal, we have more customs positions than any other airline terminal has.

Which means lines (if there are any) will be shorter than any others.

The after clearing customs problem.

It's called walking. At the new Pan Am terminal, once you've cleared customs you will only have to walk 30 feet to a special exit for taxis and private cars. And you'll be on your way within 15 minutes after leaving your plane.

The most incredible airline terminal the world has ever known.

Making a Dream Come True The craft was spindly, a seeming grab-bag of steel tubing, gears and drive belts topped by a single three-blade rotor and a two-blade rotor at its tail. Into its open cockpit climbed 50-yearold Igor Ivanovich Sikorsky, dapperly clad in a black overcoat and a haughty homburg. He started the 75-horsepower engine. pulled on the pitch control and inched the plane off the ground until it hung clear for 100 sec-

Pravda Asserts NATO Meddles in Domestic Affairs

MOSCOW, Oct. 26 (UPI).-The Soviet Union today accused NATO of trying to interfere in domestic Soviet affairs by its conditions for agreeing to prepare for a European security conference. The pre-conditions could wreck the talks it said

The NATO ringleaders have not stopped and evidently are not going to stop their intrigues designed to poison the interna-tional atmosphere," the Communist party newspaper Pravda said. This is the only explanation for the brazen and provocative list of concessions NATO is allegedly going to obtain from the Socialist countries in the course of the all-European talks." Western sources said NATO intended to make the Russians pay for any success in the secu-rity conference by insisting on the right of Soviet citizens to emigrate, an end to the Brezhnev Doctrine, an end to jamming of Western broadcasts and more freedom for Westerners in East Europe.

Essentially this is an attempt at intervention in the domestic affairs of the Socialist countries," Pravda said.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (NYT).- to be produced by the Sikorsky

"I constructed the helicopter without knowing how to build it, but knowing one thing firmlythat I would have to build it and pilot it," Mr. Sikorsky said in a recent interview.

The helicopter was not Mr. Sikorsky's invention—various vertical-lift planes had been put together before 1939 but the first to be exploited and the first with a single rotor. But Mr. Sikorsky's craft was the first totally practical one. In the early 1930s, he had filed patents that embody its basic principles. Previous helicopter builders had not followed through, whereas Mr. Sikorsky had the wit to realize that his plane had a commercial future. "A flying machine offering reasonable speed and which would be controllable and safe. also combining take-off and landing ability in a small area, would be of great value and would be, unquestionably, in considerable demand," he had written in

In developing the VS-300, Mr. Sikorsky served as the creative

Of Mr. Sikorsky's three main aviation achievements—the building of a multiple-engine airplane, creation of the flying boat, and the helicopter-be considered the latter his most important because of its civilian potentialities. "The helicopter can be the servant of humanity," he said on his 33d birthday, omitting deliberately its military role, which had been demonstrated in Korea and Indochina.

Verne and Leonardo

The notion of a helicopter oc-curred to Mr. Sikorsky as a lad in Russia, when he read the science-fiction novels of Jules Verne in translation. It caught his fancy that Verne had conceived of an aircraft that could rise straight up off the ground, and only later did he realize that the "flying screw" had also been suggested by Leonardo da Vinci,

Although he lacked mechanical knowledge, young Igor tried to make a toy helicopter out of sticks and rubber bands, he recalled in later years. "I thought the machine should be like a fly or an insect that could dart in any direction at an instants Later on, he said, he made two larger models, neither operationally successful, and he put his helicopter dream aside until the 1930s. Meantime, he had established a world reputation as an aviation wizard with a multiengine plane, a bomher version of which was used by the Russians in World War I, and with the

It was piloted by Charles A. Lindberg for Pan American World Airways who had had a hand in 'ts design and who was to become a Sikorsky friend and adviser.

The child of a privileged family with scientific interests, Igor Ivanovich Sikorsky was born May 25, 1889, in Kiev, in the Ukraine. He was the youngast of five children of Dr. and Mrs. Ivan A. Sikorsky. A physician, Dr. Sikorsky practiced psychiatry, taught and wrote about 100 books, chiefly on child psychology. His wife was also a medical school graduate. In the bookish family. young Igor read beyond his years and was able to have his questions answered by sympathetic, knowledgeable adults.

The youth's first hobbies were electricity and chemistry. His education was detoured, however, by three years in the naval academy in St. Petersburg (now Leningrad), from which he resigned in 1906 to study engineering. In Germany in the summer of 1908, he read his first account of a Wright brothers flight, and began my first steady work in aeronautics."

He seemed to have as much influence as a consultant as he ever had as an activ executive. Also inside the dapperly tailored inventor lay the mind of a mystic, which he made manifest in two books-"The Message of the Lord's Prayer" and "The Invisible Encounter"-and several pamphlets, including one titled

U.K. Study Finds Birth Pill Not Linked to Cancer

LONDON, Oct. 26 (UPI).—A six-year British study into the effects of contraceptive pills has produced no evidence that they can induce cancer, a report by the Committee on Safety of Medicines said yesterday.

The report noted that 10 new contraceptives, including five of the "mini-pill" progestogen-only formulae, have now been ap-proved for distribution in Britain. An American report that said these progestogen-only prepara-tions might be linked to cancer of the liver in experimental animals had led to these drugs being banned here.

The report said the British study found no evidence to sup-port the U.S. theory.

The study involved giving rate and mice 200 to 400 times the dose, in relation to bodyweight, which a woman on the pill would take. The report said the findings do not support previous studies mainly American work with beagle dogs-showing an inand liver damage.

mally proposed today sweeping constitutional amendments that would pave the way for him to remain in power for life through indirect elections. The proposed constitution, which has to be approved by a national referendum next month, does not provide for any limitations on the number of terms a president may serve. Under the existing constitution, which was suspended by Mr. Park on Oct. 17 when he proclaimed martial law. he may not seek another term when his current, third four-year term expires in 1975.

The proposed revisions would change presidential terms to six years, beginning with the promulgation of the new constitution. Presidents would be elected by a "National Conference for Unification," consisting of between 2,000 and 5,000 delegates to be chosen by popular vote in small administrative units throughout the country.

The powers of the president would be greatly strengthened under the proposed constitution. He would have the authority to appoint one third of the unicameral legislature—the National Assembly—after obtaining ap-proval of the National Conference.

Pressure by Publicity

usually meant the negotiations have failed. This time, the Hanoi revelations seem intended to make them succeed—or at least to place the onus for failure upon the United States.

The major breakthrough, somewhere along ths line, appears to have been the acceptance by the North Vietnamese of a ceasefire before even an interim political settlement. This has been proposed publicly by President Nixon as long ago as April And the present hitch seems to stem from President Thieu's unwillingness to accept a cease-fire in place-that is, a de facto recognition of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese occupation of substantial portions of South Vietnam.

Hanoi derides this resistance by Saigon, as something that the United States could overcome with a word. The United States has, it is reported, been pointing oat to Thieu that his million-man army ought to be sufficient to protect his regime against military attack during the cease-fire. But the hard fact remains that Thieu does have about a million armed men at his command, and however they might be weakened in the long run (and it would not be a very long rum) by an American refusal to supply support from the air and in material, for the short run the ARVN could make it very unpleasant for Americans in their territory. Moreover. Saigon has sald openly that it would not abide by agreements reached be-

> Hanoi knows this as well as Washington. But it suits the purpose of the North Vietnamese to ignore it, and to insist that the Americans sign an accord on the cease-fire by the end of the month. That this would be very popular in the United States, and very useful to Mr. Nixon's campaign for the presldency, goes without saying. But would it work? Or would it mean chaos for what is left of American men, arms and institutions in South Vietnam?

The aim of the Nixon administration ,then, would seem to be the acceptance, willingly or unwillingly, by President Thien of roughly the present program for the cease-fire. To be sure, the maintenance of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong bastions in his country could make things very complicated fur Thieu, especially in the inevitably relaxed situation which would follow an end to open warfare. But it is doubtful whether anything better can be achieved, and more than doubtful whether the United States could continue to back him against its own interest in a speedy withdrawal.

The terms released by Hanoi represent the first genuine compromise since the negotiations began in Paris so long ago. If Hanoi's pressure by publicity represents a deviation from the agreed techniques of secret talks. it is not the first of its kind by either side. And this time it may accomplish something

Mrs. Gandhi's Scapegoat

A cartoon in the influential Indian Express recently showed Prime Minister Indira Gandhi receiving a report from her party president. S.D. Sharma, who tells her: "This week's CIA activities include four price-rise demonstrations, seven buses hijacked by students, plus one cyclone in Orissa."

Indian officials haven't actually accused the American intelligence agency of instigating India's chronically bad weather-so far. But Mrs. Gandhi and her aides have raised a storm in India in recent weeks, trying to pin blame on the CIA for a host of other troubles, including widespread rioting precipitated by sharply rising prices, unemployment and the government's failure to make good on its promise to ease poverty and social.

Challenged to document her charges against American agents, Mrs. Gandhi haughtily replied: "Everyone knows that the CIA has been active in India and there is no question of proving it."

The Indian government no doubt has reason to be concerned about foreign intelligence activity within India's borders-Soviet as well as American. Mrs. Gaudhi has good cause to be impatient with an American government that continues to "tilt" toward Pakistan ten months after the Indian-Pak-

However, leveling unsubstantiated accusations against the CIA for instigating incidents that are clearly rooted in domestic problems will not help solve India's difficulties. ## The Kashmir Deadlock

A persisting deadlock in negotiations between Indian and Pakistani officials on a future dividing line in Kashmir dims hope for an urgently needed larger peace settlement on the Indian subcontinent.

Final demarcation of the 500-mile "line of control" in the disputed Himalayan state would clear the way for implementation of last July's Simla accord between Prime Min-Ister Gandhi and President Bhutto. This would mean the withdrawal of Indian troops from more than 5,000 square miles of Pakistani territory, allowing the return of one million refugees, and the withdrawal of Pakistant troops from a much smaller area of India.

Also undecided is the fate of 93,000 Pakistani prisoners of war in India, a burning issue in Pakistan especially in view of two incidents this month in which fourteen prisoners were reported killed by Indian guards. Settlement of the Kashmir question should make India more amenable to an agreement for the return of the prisoners; but the issue is complicated by insistence of Bangladesh that all prisoners be held until it is recognized by Pakistan and that some prisoners face war crimes trials.

It would do no harm and it might do much good now for Sheik Mujib of Bangladesh to accept President Bhutto's long-standing offer of direct talks- a form of tacit recognition that should not be lightly dismissed—and to signal some moderation in his announced plans for war crimes trials. Mr. Bhutto, whose domestic position has been strengthened by recent agreement on the outline of a new constitution, could show his good faith, by withdrawing Pakistan's opposition to the admission of Bangladesh to the United Na-

What, as it were, is their worldwide Ho Chi Minh trail? It is all done by diplomatic messengers exploiting their immunitles and privileges to pass through all checks and barriers as by a charm, with the instruments of murder and mutilation in their appropriately voluminous and weighty baggage.

"A year ago today (Wednesday) a somewhat surprised General Assembly of the UN found that it had replaced President Chiang Kai-shek's republic by Chairman Mao Tsetung's People's Republic in the seat for China among the Security Council's five permanent members. Even the leaders in Peking were taken aback at their success. Far from being disruptive or obsessively revolutionary in their attitude, the Chinese have been no more assertive in the UN than their convictions would have foretold; no more blased in their world view than some other major powers; certainly as strict as any other in their adherence to the Charter... It is nationalism rather than revolution that seems to guide their thinking.

Hanoi and the Cuban Specter

By C. L. Sulzberger

PARIS.-Historians may eventually decids the most significant aspect of the Indochina war was that it never produced a superpower confrontation resembling the nuclear showdown over Cuba just ten years ago.

It may be arguable that what occurred in the Caribbean at the end of October, 1962, had a profound if indirect influence on what was to happen in Vietnam during the subsequent decade. Looking back on events that led Khrushchev to the Cuban gamble, it is now possible to discern his growing overconfidence. After having met Kennedy in Vienna, he told me the American President impressed him as being unable to face up to the Berlin crisis then festering.

"Kennedy is too young," he said. (Sept. 8, 1961). "He lacks the the issue correctly. He is airaid to take up that position and that is why he has introduced mobilization measures." Khrushchev gave two clues to his possible behavior, although I was not shrewd enough to realize this.

Nuclear Faith

He said: "If Cuba were subjected to attack, it would have every right to expect assistance from other peace-loving countries. . . . We would certainly not ignore a request for assistance." indicated exaggerated faith in Russia's nuclear arsenal, saying it was being armed with "several" 100-megaton warbeads of such destructive power as "to make would-be aggressors think twice."

Khrushchev probably didn't then contemplate the possibility that 13 months later he would have dispatched missiles and naclear warheads secretly to Cuba. SDECE, the French intelligence service, reported some clues early in October and the CIA established overwhelming confirmation through serial surveillance.

The result is history. Kennedy reacted with calm toughness and sent Dean Acheson abroad to alert our allies. France's President de Gaulle told Acheson it was unnecessary to show him photographs of the Soviet missiles because obviously a great government like yours would not risk war for nothing." He assured Washington of French support.

Some lesser allies suggested dismantling U.S. missile bases in Turkey to save Khrushchev's face. Several suspected what Moscow really sought was Western abandonment of Berlin. None of this happened. Faced by a U.S. naval blockade and the threat of holocaust, Khrushchev backed down.;

Quick Withdrawal

On Nov. 9, 1962, Kennedy told me he was "astonished" at the speed with which the Russians managed to pull their missiles out of Cuba but added that he couldn't understand why Khrushchev had gone there in the first place. If he had thought America of an area of its own vital interest (the President speculated), he surely must have assumed we weren't going to fight in Berlin Therefore, he asked: "Why didn't he go straight for Berlin?"

On Nov. 20, the President said in another conversation that he had learned much from the terrible episode. At the start, "you don't know whom to believe and whom to disbelieve. But I can do the job much better now."

The crisis produced several repercussions. Khrushchev sent a message to British Prime Minister Macmillan saving the West should not try to push Russia around on Berlin or make the mistake of thinking the Cuba showdown proved Moscow was "soft,"

NATO endorsed Kennedy's desire to increase the alliance's conrentional strength because Cuba had demonstrated that the use ofstrength in a crisis area could force an adversary to be the first to explode nuclear weapons and thereby risk mass de-

I used to enjoy explaining us to him when we visited each other, and I'm delighted to, again, via this paper. Clive was highly exercised over the calm way Americans are taking the Watergate charges, the wheat deal charges. The reason that we aren't more exercised over charges made by a desperate political party in a bitter election campaign is not that we are lawless, but that we respect the law. The first principle of Anglo-Saxon lsw is that a man must be considered innocent until he is proven guilty.

coincided with dismantling of the U.S. missile sites in Turkey. Washington promised to take no physical action against Cuba's regime and this in turn strengthened the hand of Latin American revolutionary movements for some time to come. De Gaulle decided he would never again allow France to be drawn into crises outside the European area and loosened French NATO ties. The historical effect of the Cuban confrontation on Vietnam was indirect. Kennedy certainly didn't reduce American intervention; he souped it up. But the lesson of 1962 wasn't lost. Despite U.S. attacks on Hanoi, even while Kosygin was there, or bombings right up to China, and despite the U.S. blockade of Haiphong, Moscow and Peking reacted with calculated calm

A study by a public relations and marketing concern found that the Christian Democratic Union leader was viewed by many West Germans as "olig," or "slippery as an ecl," or "awfully Catholic" or "nrrogunt." He has other problems, too. His arain campaign pater shows him with his mouth open in a hopeful pose and beneath it the words: "Our Program for Governing -- We Build Progress Upon Stability." The slogan is criticized as weat: because it focuses on the abstract concept of "stability."

Youth Not Stressed

Another criticism came iron a: Social Democratic cablust member, who said: "They have made an old man out of him when they should be building on his youth He's 10 years younger than the chancellor."

Many Christian Democrats were disappointed with Mr. Burzel's showing at their party convention in Wesbaden. He made very low-keyed address without a single personal attack on sor of the members of the governing coalition. He expinined later-The first low blow struck in this campaign will hit the person who made it."

The hall emptled rapidly as Mr. Barzel spoke.

"The atmosphere was toy," a man who was there said. "Every-The next day, he said, "the voices from the temb came from former Chancellors Ludwig Erhard and Kurt Georg Kiesinger," who "were the first to instill life in the proceedings."

"It was macabre," he added, Mr. Barzel has told advisent who want him to be more aggres-sive that he believes, as do most of those in Mr. Brandt's camp that most West Germans are in no mood for wild polemics at this can see it now. They are preparing to take it out on the forthcoming victory of Richard Nixon. They will say that it shows that the country is irredeemable, that it proves that we are in a squalid state, in-capable even of a lapse into How they love it so. If truth be known, they really want Nixon to win because they find it easier to criticize America that way. If McGovern won, they would go into a sulk, be-That is what this gang is very cause they wouldn't have America to kick around any more. At least not for a little while.

The current favorite in the nti-American festival is Kurt Vonnegut jr., the novelist who wrote "Slaughterhouse Five" and other wry books. He writes in a sort of idiomatic blank verse. and his message is really very simple. It is that war is evil, and people are inhuman, especially in America. His devices are rather orthodox: he juxtaposes the comfort of the wealthy and the powerful up against the tortures of the maimed and the neglected. Then he does things like dividing the world into "Winners" and "Losers." and saying things like "the fix is on" and -for this year's most famous-

But of course they'd come back

An Example

He is a man of great wit and absolutely no humor. And in the current issue of Harper's Magazine, reviewing the Republican convention in Mismi, he strikes the tuning fork for the uhilators; coast to coast. He mocks the alleged piety of Nixon and his supporters and in particular of one Quaker theologian. He dwells lovingly on gallows burner. He is skilled in draining the humor. out of a story by telling it deadpan, the way some people can tell you a Polish jeke and make it sound merely crude, instead of crude plus something else. ...

Consider: "[Art Buchwald] told our table about a column he had just written. The comical premise was that the Republican had attracted so campaign contributions that it found itself with two billion dollars it couldn't spend. It decided to buy something nice for ths American people. Here was the gift: a free week's bombing of Vietnam." It is a technique anyone can master. Well, not quite anyone, but most people. The only inflexible requirement is that you postulate your own sensitivity and compassion, by contrast with the moral sloth of good at doing. Norman Mailer, deploying those numinous phrases for which he is justly loved, talked in his piece on Miami about walking through the Democratic convention and suddenly realizing why it was an exhibitrating only love among the delegates. Human Beings

On reading that passage I thought of a young delegate (as it happened an altogether amiale .young man) who gave out the news to a reporter shortly before the convention that Mc-Govern was going to win and that the reason why McGovern was going to win was that im-mediately after his nomination there would appear on the scene five million young volunteers for McGovern armed with "hate." The hatred of Richard Nixon,

In fact the delegates to the Democratic convention were human beings with the strengths and weaknesses of other human beings, except that they were, as a lot, a good deal more arrogant than the Republicans. They had fire in their bellies, that hot ideological fire that says: we're going to change America and you, boy, are going to ride in the tumbrel to execution squart, and we're going to enjoy your suffering. There was a good deal of that in the McGovern convention, not much in the Republican convention, which was mostly dull, accepting the course of events, which was clearly: four more years of Nixon, the good that that means, and the bad that that means. But the Vonneguts have had it with America. One woaders, Was it Vietnam that did it to them? But in fact Kurt Vonnegut's big book is about that firebombing of Dresden, not Hanoi: and that was an operation undertaken by people like Winston Churchill and Franklin Delano Roosevelt and Charles de Gaulle, whole encyclopaedias before Vietnam which, a little carelessly, Vonnegut and the others now use as the principal crutch for their anti-Americanism. Nixon, of course, is the per-fect complementary figure. Nixon/Vietnam goes down better than Churchill/Dresden. But it: doesn't matter really. They will find reasons to say that America is intolerable, and they will say it quite deafeningly in the weeks to come.

At one time, there were 10 explanations of the theoretically impossible speed of the galaxy and quasars. All but three have been discredited and they are suspect.
One is called the "cannonball explanation." This describes two masses moving in opposite directions, with the one traveling toward the viewer giving the im-pression of moving at a speed

U.S. to Study Antarctica, Using Drills

Scientists Seeking Continent's Origins

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (AP). -The government announced yesterday that an international team of scientists would drill a hole a mile deep into Antarctica's bedrock to help trace the frozen continent's climatic and geologic history.

The National Science Foundation said that man's first deep penetration into Antarctic soil will be conducted by 30 researchers from Japan, New Zealand and the United States. The drilling will be conducted during January and February, 1978, on Ross Island, adjacent to Mc-Murdo Station, the main U.S. scientific outpost in Antarctica.

It will be part of the three-year Dry Valley Drilling Project to be conducted on the continent. Boreholes are planned at a minimum of 10 sites on Ross Island, McMurdo Sound, along the Antarctic coast, and inland valleys that are free of ice and snow during the Antarctic "summer."

The NSP said that, while the land drilling is going on a parallel effort will be made 100 to 150 miles at sea by the NSFsupported Deep Sea Drilling Astronomy Observatory at Green

> "Cores from the Glomar Challenger [the sea-drilling ship] and from the DVDP will be analyzed to help scientists understand the record of Antarctica's 200-millionyear evolution from a temperate zone member of the Southern Remisphere super-continen Gondwanaland to its present position," the NSF said.

Gondwanaland refers to the widely beld theory that all the world's present continents were once amassed in a single supercontinent before some broke

The film has more substance than most of the race-chase melodramas. The private life of a member of the vice squad is interestingly detailed. Day and night, this vigilant guardian of the peace patrols the Champs-Elysées and the Montmartre boulevards, an eagle eye cocked for misconduct.

In addition, there is a Jules Verne interlude in which a helicopter deposits a passenger on top of an express train as it cuts through a foggy, winter night. FASHION-Saint Laurent And Givenchy -Good News

By Hebe Dorsey PARIS, Oct. 26.—No news is good news—that is the story at both Givenchy and Saint Givenchy, for one, need not worry. He has a distingue look all his own and a way of making even jeans look expensive— which they are. His prices should keep the mobs away from his chic boutloues.

His opening numbers were the st. For the first time, he introduced swimwear-mostly maillots, which came with very ladylike wrap-around skirts. The black silk one, with devastating décolleté back and front (the front bares almost everything) shows that Givenchy can make sexy feshions when he wants to. The prints, always strongly his, in-clude alternate bands of card suit symbols (clubs, diamonds et al) and dots, as well as a rope pattern which he put on terry-cloth sarongs and matching

The seagull, which Givenchy introduced in his couture collection, is around too, on elegant separates, sweaters and quite a number of pants suits. His favorite colors are white, black and navy which he often combines. His to-the-manor-born evening dresses are pretty florals over dotted Swiss organdy and the Givenchy ruffle now spreads out

Saint Laurent

Yves Saint Laurent, who makes no bones about being a great admirer of Chanel, keeps his uniform which appeals to both secure and insecure women. His poplin safari jackets, strongly nipped at the waist with a drawstring, his raincoats and his sweater and skirt ensembles are still here and they still look great. A new idea, which has a great deal of charm, is the flowered chiffon blouse worn with ing approach again by sticking a black ciré safari jacket over a long, pleated white crepe skirt. A sure fire hit again. Saint La rent put women into pants and plans to keep them there. His collection had more pants than most others; they anged from white canvas to Saint Laurent must have taken a trip to the Soviet Union because his evening wear is full of Ukrainian looking dresses, with square necklines and dirndl skirts. In DARIS (IHT).—Ten meals a week in restaurants and at least one cabaret five nights out of seven, a regimen of good living that should slay an ox.

Yet at 62, Robert Courtine, France's most redoubtable gastronomic critic, looks 50, weighs an unfluctuating 158 pounds for 5 feet 9 inches tall, is clear-eyed, rosy-complexioned and springy in his walk. "Never touch sugar. Never est bread."

Once a week his articles appear in the newspapers Le Monde (signed La Reynière after the gastronome Grimod de la Reynière who lived from 1758 to 1838) and La Dépèche du Midi, the magazine Paris Match and the entertainment guide Pariscope. Once a month his articles appear in the magazines Revue du Pacing and Le Nouveau Guérir. He has written 30 books, ranging in size from minor to major. Counting the translations into 15 languages (including Japanese), Courtine estimates his hardcover work as hovering around 1 million copies.

His latest book, "Les Grands Maitres de la Cuisine Frana collaboration with another food writer, Celine Vence, was launched last week. The deluxe work (Editions Bordes, 135 francs) presents recipes from French chefs over a 500-year span, starting with Taillevent in 1373 to amateur chef Alexandre Dumas, in 1873. Top Paris restaurants such as Lasserre, La Tour d'Argent, Au Pactole, L'Archestrate worked out the recipes and had the finished dishes photo-graphed on their premises.

"Too many chefs today act as if there were nobody before Carème and Escoffier," said were no poets before Lamartine." Next month Lerousse is publishing Courtine's international "Dictionary of Cheese." "No. it's not just an enumeration. There are songs, poems, anecdotes, literary references. Twe been at it for 10 years. The idea came from Casanova who wrote in his 'Memoirs' that he would have liked to do a dictionary of cheese but it was too difficult.

"I read a book a day. I was always interested in literature and even more interested when literature talked of cutsine. I observed that you could be a great writer without liking the table but it was not possible to be a great novelist without liking the table. Balzac was remarkable, It was from him in La Rabouilleuse' I first learned of beating the whites and the yolks apart when making an omelet."

Unified Law Plan For EEC Firms Runs Into Snags

By David Haworth

BRUSSELS, Oct. 28 (IHT).— The Common Market commis-sion's plans for unifying company law on an EEC-wide basis, including a proposal to have work-ers' representatives on the boards of all public companies with over five hundred employees, have run into serious difficulties, it was admitted here today. Tha Economic and Social Committee, on which unions and employers are represented, has failed completely to agree on how work-ers should take part in a board's activities—or whather they should take part at all Alfons Lappas, committee chair-

The British, who will join the REC on Jan 1, also have deep reservations about the EEC's participation plan which proposes workers should have a one-third representation on company boards. There is regret in the EEC headquarters that this issue has side-tracked the principle of having a unified company law. The real purpose of achieving a common company statute would be to make mergers within the

Stock Prices Seesaw As Volume Increases

FINANCE

By Terry Robards

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (NYT).-Henry A. Kissinger's public confirmation of significant progress in the negotiations for peace in Vietnam produced a dramatic, but short-lived, rally in the stock market today. In yet another demonstration of the extraordinary sensitivity of New York Stock Exchange prices to developments on the war front, a wove of buying rolled into the market as soon as Mr. Kissinger's remark that "peace is at hand," was printed on newswires shortly after noon. But the upsurge lasted less than an hour, indicating that perhaps some of the reality of peace in Southeast Asia already bas been discounted in share prices. For two weeks the market has been reacting to virtually every move made by Mr. Kissin-

At 12:30 p.m. the Dow Jones industrial average was up 1,66 and by 1 p.m. its gain had been stretched to 6.33. From there it was all downhill, and the Dow closed with a loss of 0.82 at

In reality the market's performance was somewhat better than the widely-watched Dow indicated. For instance, the NYSE price index, peaking with a risc September experts totaled 12.11 billion DM, up from 11.38 billion marks in August and 11.7 billion of 0.54 at 1 p.m., clung to a gain of 0.21 at the close.
Other popular indicators showed the market solidly up when trading had ended. Of 1.787 is-sues traded, 977 closed higher

As details of Mr. Kissinger's tentative agreement with the North Victnamese were reported by news agencies, the market behaved as if the whole matter were anti-climactic, leaving investors to wonder whether the long-awaited "peace rally" had come and gooe in a matter of minutes.

> The airlines were the strongest group, reflecting a growing recognition in Wall Street that earnings are turning around. Braniff topped the active list, shooting up 1 3,8 to 13 1'8 on turnover of 368,000 shares.

> Other airline issues with strong gains included Eastern, up 1 3 8 to 23 5'8, National, up 1 7:8 to 36 1 2. TWA, up 1 5 8 to 43 1 2. Northwest, up 1 1 2 to 35 3 8, and UAL, up 1 1 3 to 35 5 8. Prices closed higher in moderately active trading on the American Stock Exchange. The Amex index finished with a gain of 0.07 to 25.89. Advances topped de-> clices, 549 against 350. Turnover was 3.93 million shares compared with 3.20 million yesterday. Champion Home Bullders, the day's volume leader, edged up 1.4

On the bond market corporate bonds gaioed 3.8 to 1.2 point, but backed off as trading activity died down.

In the government sector, the market managed to hold most of its gains and intermediate coupons closed up 2 32 to 3 32. Longer bonds posted gains at 1.8 to 1.4 of a point in spols.

United Airlines will not take up its options to buy six Anglo-French Concorde supersonic air-liners, officials of UAL Inc., the carrier's parent company, have told newsmen in N.Y. They disclosed the decision, taken recently, in response to questions at a news conference. A spokesman said the reason for the move was not a dissatisfaction with the plane but incompatibility with United's route structuring.

continued its strong uptrend duling the three months just ended. On 30th September the Tokyo Slock Exchange Index stood at 328.22 representing a 18.6 % Increase Irom 281.53 on 30th June. representing a 18.5 % Increase from 281,53 on 30th June.

Active participation into the market by various types of Japanese institutional investors (including investment trusts, some financial institutions and industrial corporations) produced a good counterbalance against negligible activities by non-Japanese investors.

Factors responsible for the bullish market were a sharp economic recovery, a subsequent improvement in corporate earnings and e fundamentally very easy money situation. Towards the end of the period cautiousness was witnessed among many analysis due to an intrapping volume of new issues and a slight tightening of money. Yet, the index itself accelerated the upprend. The nel asset value per shars of TCH was $ 34.31 on 30th September. The percentage appreciation during the quarter was 11.6 % and 47.7 % for the first 8 months of 1972 (adjusted for dividend).

man." With such a choice available it is preferable to bid the stronger minor suit to mini-mize the chance of a lead-directing double by the fourth player. North therefore bid two diamoods, which was right in theory but wrong in practice as it gave East the chance to double and ask for a diamond lead. If North had bid two clubs, his weaker minor, there would have been no double and West would not have known which suit to lead egainst the eventual three no-trumn contract.

As it was, West led the dia-

South allowed the heart queen to win, and East shifted to the spade three. Dummy's queen captured West's jack, and a heart was led. East put up the ace, since he would have had an embarrassing lead if he had been forced to win the third round of hearts. As it was, he could return the heart ten to South's king.

South next tried a low club to dummy's jack, and East won with the queen and returned his re-maining club to South's ace. The defense had four tricks, but was unable to make more. South crossed to the diamond ace, cashed the heart jack, and returned to his hand with a spade lead. When he cashed the club king he discovered that West still had a club. So when he led a spade to the king in dummy at the 12th trick he knew that the ten would

BEFORE Mike Nichols made it, he was a waiter at Howard Johnson's. Everybody who came in asked, "What kind of ice ercam do you have?" and he had to rattle off the entire Johnsonian litany. Hundreds of times a day. One hectic afternoon someone asked the fatal question and hilke went to pieces. "Chicken," he replied.

Chicken may be the only ice cream flavor that's never been actually tried. Real ones include tanganilla, sunflower. Here Comes the Fudge pumpkin-licorice, bubble gum and an abomination called the Chili Con Carne Good

In his dejectable tutti-fruttl of a book, Paul Dickson traces the history of ice cream from ancient Rome to decadent Los Angeles: the invention of the cone; the coming of age of soda and its jerk, with a marvelous glossary of endearingly comball fountain jargon ("Adam's ale" for water, "Hold the hall" for no ice). The cherry atop this sumptuous sundac is a chapter on basic icecream recipes for the do-it-yourselfer who wants to compete with Louis Sherry, and a mouthwatering "Compendium of Con-coctions" like Strawberry Mousse and Triple Ice Cream Bombe with Fluffy Chocolate-Nut Sauce. Warning: Just reading some of these is 130 calories.

In the 1890s, some communities had laws prohibiting the sale of sodas on Sunday. Some early genius formulated a "sodaless soda"—the sundae—that satisfied both customers and God.

In 1946 the ice-cream industry looked forward to a billion-gailon year, and in prose used only by ageing Con I ministers, political nominators and trade journals, The Ice Cream Review exulted:

"It can be done. It will be done. Let us go np and possess this billion gallon land ... True, you will profit in dollars and cents by making a success of this crusade, your crusade. But you will get an equal or even greater degree of satisfaction by having the Public enjoy and benefit from the use of more and still more ice cream, Milk In Its Finest Form."

In 1967 Fidel Castro boasted that his nation would soon produce more flavors than America. Cuba then had 26 and would eventually "put the U.S. to shame with 42." This produced a call from Irv Robbins, who made it perfectly clear that Baskin-Rob-bins alone had a repertoire of over 290 flavors. Put that in voted by 17 of the 18 members of the NCAA Council at its fall meeting in Knoxville, Tenn. It grew from a rivalry that for most of the last 10 years has embroiled the colleges and other groups, chiefly the Amateur Athletic Union, over representation in Olympic matters.

Its impact on the selection and training of future Olympic teams especially in track and field swimming and wrestling—was not clear. But the NCAA said it was not asking the United States to quit the Games and it left it up to the coaches and athletes "to determine within their own conscience" how they might take

"I don't think they have in mind barring the college ath-letes," said Arthur Lentz, executive director of the Olympic Committee. "But their route to the pre-Olympic trials would be made much more difficult by the with-drawal of expense money."

The NCAA is the largest single group in this country's major sports at the Olympic Games.

Jockeying Blamed

In Philadelphia, John B. Kell jr., president of the AAU, placed the blame on the jockeying for position by various groups within the Olympic committee and singled out Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA

"Walter Byers would like to be czar of all amateur sport in this country," Kell asserted, "and has been frustrated in this attempt. The majority of members of the Olympic committee have seen fit to resist domination I by the NCAA.I"

Both Byers and Barnes, though, insisted that the decision transcended the dispute that has embittered relations between the collegs group and the AAU since 1965—when representation on the Olympic committee was changed in favor of the AAU and other "independent" bodies.

"It's become apparent," Byers said, "that the Olympic committee doesn't want the colleges or high schools as members. And, conversely, we don't want to be members because we've lost all respect for the USOC."

Kuhn, here to attend a conference of about 80 owners and managers, said he feels there will always be the need for minor league baseball, "but maybe it won't have to be as large it is short-handed goal and a powerplay goal.

Kuhn said he feels baseball has almost reached the limit in paying player salaries. He added he believes solutions can be worked out between the owners, managers and the players' association. NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (UPI) .-Gene Robert and Gerry Mechan each scored second-period goals last night to give Buffalo a 2-2 tie at home against the Boston Bruins and move the Sabres into a tie for first place with Montreal in the National Hockey League's Eastern Division.

But Robert notched his fifth goal of the season at 15:39 of the middle period on a power play, and 31 seconds later Mechan scored on a slap shot from the edge of the left face-off circle to tie the score.

Ace Bailey tallied a shorthanded goal for the Bruins at 7:16 of tha first period and Johnny Bucyk made it 2-0 at 16:21 when he hit on a rebound from about 10 feet

Roger Crozier started in goal for the Sabres, who have not lost a game in eight starts this season, but was taken out after the first period because of an undisclosed injury. He was replaced by Dava Dryden, who made his first appearance in a regular-season game this year for Buffalo, and stopped 14 Boston shots over the last two periods. Buffalo has five victories and three ties in eight games.

Rangers 6, Flyers 1 Rod Gilbert scored the 250th and 251st goals of his career as New York stretched its unbeaten home rout of Philadelphia, Gilbert, who was unable to practice the last two days after suffering a charley horse Saturday night, became the third Ranger in history to reach the 250-goal plateau when he opened the scoring at 12:22 of the first period. Andy Bathgate and Camille Henry were the other Rangers to score 250 or more goals in their careers.

Flames 4, Golden Seals 3 Keith McCreary and Bob Leiter scored a pair of goals within a 69second span of the second period to help Atlanta to a 4-3 victory over California at Oakland Maple Leafs 4, North Stars 3

Center Dave Keon scored tha eventual winning goal midway in the third period to give Toronto a 4-3 road victory over Minnesota.

Sound, Stingy Defense Reflects Allen

NFL Redskins Have Character

By William N. Wallace

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (NYT),-The Washington Redskins are an interesting outfit to watch. Their 5-1 won-lost record is the second-best in the National Football League, behind the Miami Dolphins. The Redskins have a handful of exceptional players, but only average talent at most positions. The team has a collective purpose about it, however, and its destiny is to win somehow, some way, most of its games.

Washington is not a great team in any sense. Maybe there are no longer any like that in the NFL, with the good players spread so evenly Against Dallas last Sunday, the Redskins missed a pass coverage with five defensive backs on the field when Leslie (Speedy) Duncan failed to cover Ron Sellers. That cost them a touchdown, Personal Foul Also the defensive team captain, 36-year-old Jack Pardee, lost his composure and drew a personal-foul penalty.

Furthermore, Paul Lauvez, the left guard, pulled out the wrong way and knocked over his quarterback, Sonny Jurgensen, on their 1-yard line, George Allen, the coach, might have expected that from his Morningside College teams, but not in the hig leagues.

Yet the Redskins won. They overcame their early mistakes and stayed close enough to win at the end. Allen, whose thinking process always stresses the positive even if he has to fake it sometimes, was asked if he did not think his team was flat as this key game began.

Not Flat

"Tight," he replied. Not flat, but tight. Such distinctions must make a difference be-cause the Redskins, en elderly team, respond to this man. The squad is close and enthusiastic. Allen says this year's team is better than last year's, which also had a 5-1 record at this time. It is different in that receiver Charlie Taylor and running back Larry Brown are not injured as they were a year ago, and Jurgensen is the quarterback rather than Bill Kümer. It's a disciplined" Jurgensen, according to Allen.

Balanced Attack

This means that Jurgensen hands the ball off to Brown 20 times a game rather than throw a flurry of passes as was his custom. Few people stop Brown, the NFL's leading runner. But Jurgensen's great arm must also be respected, as well as receivers like Taylor, Roy Jefferson and Jerry Smith

Teams reflect the character of their coach and Allen is a fanatic about defense, which he personally directs. Washington's defense is sound and stingy. Errors like Duncan's are rare.

Penalty Dispote

CHICAGO, Oct. 26 (UPI).—Minnesota coach Bud Grant thought his Vikings were beaten by an improper call in Monday night's 13-10 loss to the Chicago Bears, and the Chicago coach agrees with him, np to a point.

An apparent winning touchdown pass by Fran Tarkenton with 20 seconds to play was called back for an illegal receiver downfield, a call Grant claims was unbelievably late.

There was no flag when the play was consummated," Grant claimed. "We already had the extra-point team on the field.' Tarkenton said. Abe Gibron, the Bears' coach, said he saw no illegal receiver dawnfield, but also said the play "should have been called back because Tarkcoten was past the line of scrimmage."

But one man on the field was certain about the call. Bob Jeter, inserted into the Chango secondary only a play carlier to replace an in-jured player, said he spotted the Minnesota left guard. Ed White, in the end zone and made sure the officials saw him

The two stage towers of the 72-million mark theater in Darmstadt.

By David Stevens

DARMSTADT, West Germany (IHT).-Tradition and innovation are bedfellows in the $26-million double theater that has just been opened in this city, and with the theater everywhere wide open to the winds of change. Only time will tell whether the two can live together.

- If it were not for tradition, there might . very well be no theater here at all. In any other country, the idea of spending 72 million marks to build a theater and allotting 14 million marks as a subsidy for the first season, in a city of less than 150,000 people, would be all but unthink-

But state theater in Germany is a direct descendant of court theater, and Darm-stadt—as a former capital of the state of Hesse and various dynastic amalgamsis one of three cities where the modern state of Hesse maintains a State Theater. the others being Wiesbaden and Kassel. State and city shared the cost of the theater, as they do for the annual subsidy

-about 51 percent state and 49 municipal. Yet here, the only cause for surprise might be that it took Darmstadt so long to replace its war-destroyed theatersomething that has been long since done in other German cities of comparable or larger size. The tradition has been kept alive since the war with performances in the Orangerie, an auditorium far from the center of town that might be suitable for a medium-sized high school.

But tradition is a double-edged sword It provides the economic basis and imposes the limitations of society. Darmstadt is a small and conservative city and, as elsewhere, there is a tendency for the solid taxpaying burghers to regard the theater as "our" theater.

How to balance tradition with the need for updating is the problem of the theater's intendant, or general manager, who is 34-year-old Gunther Beelitz, the head of a team of serious musicians and theater people, most of them about the same age. As a sign of what they are trying to do,

Tradition and Innovation in A German City

there was no gale opening, but a month of opera, theater and dance performances, with the emphasis on the theater being a public place open to all. A campaign in the schools has increased youth subscriptions by 40 percent. In opera, there was the inevitable "Pidelio" and a production of "Cosi Fan Tutte" that is intended as the first of a complete cycle of major Mozart operas. In theater, innovation took over with the first performances of works commissioned for the occasion, and the first German performance of a contemporary English play. "Straight Up" by Syd Cheatle.

But it is perhaps in the field of dance that the organization of the new Darm-stadt Staatstheater has taken the boldest step. Darmstadt has a venerable operatic and theatrical background, but none at all in dance, which only since the war has been making itself felt in Germany as a discipline worthy of the state thea-

The Darmstadt theater has hired Gerhard Bohner, a young dancer-choreographer who has made something of a name for himself in Berlin, and he in turn has engaged a troupe of 12 soloists who share his ideas about modern dance theater. No corps de ballet, or any of the other trappings that go with 19th-century ballet. Just a baker's dozen of young dancers living and working in the present.

The season's first "Dance Theater Evening" last Sunday offered three of Bohner's ballets—a "Number Ballet" to music by Eric Satie, a version of "Presence" to a score by the late Bernd Alois Zimmermann, depicting imaginary cucounters by three literary characters-Molly Bloom, Ubu Roi and Don Quixoteand "Lilith," an intensely dramatic, if smewhat long-winded, portrayal of the discuptive effect on a family of a demorie figure. The program promised more than it delivered, but a capacity audience responded wholeheartedly to an atmosphere of vitality and creativity.

Tradition and innovation are side by side in the theater building itself, too. It is, like so many other new German theaters. built with the latest technical innovations, but totally traditional in concept.

Both the large theater, with about 1,000 seats, and the small one, with about 500, have standard proscenium stages, and there is a combination rehearsal-workshop stage in the bowels of the complex. But in both auditoriums the proscenium area is very flexible; the seats are steeply raked and close to the stage for superior vision; a net-like ceiling in each hall hides adjustable lighting and acoustical equipment; each stage has a full battery of side, rear and revolving stages and stage elevators; the working areas for scenic construction and the like are immense and on one level. Patrons can park in a 408 place garage (no charge) and walk up to the theaters, where they can deposit their coats in individual lockers (50 plennigs).

But there are technical problems, too, for the construction was long under way before the theater's present leaders were able to take a hand in the planning, and the result is a somewhat painful breakingin period.

But the stress between tradition and innovation can be productive and sometimes startling. A little more than 40 years ago Darmstadt had a young and gifted crew runing opera and theater here-the intendant was Carl Ebert, the music director Karl Böhm, and the chief administrator Rudolf Bing. All went on to greater things, but they left their mark in Darmstadt. Böhm conducted one of the earliest productions of Berg's "Wozzeck." and according to one anecdote, Bing, standing behind the box office wicket, was spat on by an enraged patron whose ears had been offended by this artistic effrontery.
